

High Density (HD) Rack

Overview

The Cycle-Works designed and manufactured HD Rack is a new, easy to use and functional High Density (HD) bike rack. The bike is simply rolled up the flat channel, and the front wheel is held securely in place. The racks can be installed at various angles to the wall to accommodate awkward locations and still achieve a high density of parking. The rack can also be used in other systems, such as shelters or the Velo-Store.

One of the benefits is that the racks are able to be installed in a high-low-high formation. This means 400mm centres or less are possible, which dramatically increases the capacity over standard Sheffield racks, making the HD Rack a high density solution. The capacity can be increased even further if the racks can be laid out back-to-back, as the front wheels then use the same space.

Features & Benefits

- Easy to use - the rack holds the front wheel
- The bike is held upright and stable
- Can be angled to accommodate tight spaces
- Neat, organized bike parking (bikes cannot move on the rack, unlike on Sheffield stands)
- No leverage points for a brute force attack
- Effective use of space - High Density
- Designed and "Made in Britain"
- Powder coated in any standard RAL colour
- Convenient locking points (One secure point at the rear, and the front wheel can be locked easily. Extra locking points can be added if required)

Locking Points

The rear locking bar is very easy to use and allows the rear wheel and frame to be locked together. This also removes the common problem of being able to force an attack by leveraging the bar outwards and weakening the locking point.

The HD Rack is available in any stand RAL colour and can be installed without the need for expensive groundworks.

Materials

The rack is manufactured from thick pre galvanised steel sheet and laser cut into shape and then precision folded into its final form.
